Comments : Unobstructed deck plan, plenty of rod holders, muscular engines and sharp hulls ... no doubt, the Edgewater 268 CC is a good open sport fishing boat.

In the area of ??open fishing, the offer from the American manufacturer Edgewater has six models, from 20 to 39 feet. To stand out in a very competitive sector, the site highlights its strengths: a quality of construction resulting from the experience of Bob Dougherty, founder and CEO of Boston Whaler; a more competitive price than market leaders (Boston Whaler, Everglades ...); and better performance at equivalent power, thanks to weight savings - only the sidewalls of the Edgewater models are reinforced with foam. Located mid-range, the 268 CC adopts the full range of sport fisherman and includes fish tanks, fish trays, rod holders, bait box, etc. The rather generous standard equipment incorporates the leaning-post two-seater, the T-top, the marine toilet equipped with a macerator, the electric flaps, the deck wash kit, the electric windlass or the sunbath before - intended for those who do not track the fish.
