Detailed description:

The Elan 362 is a versatile cruising sailboat, ideal for outings with family or friends. Its fiberglass-reinforced polyester hull ensures great stability and good seakeeping. The deck, also made of polyester, is designed to offer good circulation and comfortable living spaces.

The interior of the boat is spacious and well laid out, with a main cabin, an equipped kitchen, a bathroom, and sleeping accommodations for up to six people. The helm station is ergonomic and offers good visibility, facilitating navigation.

In terms of performance, the Elan 362 is equipped with a performant sail plan, with a large sail area close-hauled and running. The Yanmar 2YM20 20 HP engine provides reliable and economical propulsion.

This sailboat is also equipped with numerous comfort and safety options, such as an autopilot, a GPS, a sonar, and a complete navigation system. It is also possible to customize the boat with additional equipment according to the needs and preferences of the owner.

In summary, the Elan 362 is a versatile cruising sailboat, offering a good balance between performance, comfort, and safety. It is ideal for sailors seeking a reliable and pleasant boat to live on, both for day trips and longer cruises.
